Introduction and Synopsis

India’s foreign policy is dedicated to the furtherance of our national security and developmental priorities in a globalized and interdependent world. It encompasses the safeguarding of domestic priorities of sustained growth and inclusive socio-economic development, as well as tackling global challenges such as international terrorism, climate change, energy security or proliferation of weapons of mass destruction. It is an undeniable fact that while we strive to achieve our domestic goals, we must also ensure our dynamic engagement with a rapidly changing scenario in global affairs, and the emerging security and economic architectures, given the stakes involved for India.

The first step towards achieving our foreign policy objective is to ensure a peaceful, secure and stable neighbourhood, and it is with this perspective that India is developing a mutually beneficial relationship with her neighbours. India has always regarded the concept of neighbourhood as one of widening concentric circles, around a central axis of historical and cultural commonalities.

India remains committed in its support for Bhutan’s efforts towards economic and social development. In keeping with our unique relationship with Nepal, our engagement with it grew as the pace of implementation of enhancing cross-border connectivity infrastructure quickened. India continued to work closely with the Government of Nepal and political parties with a view to support Nepal’s peace process and the strengthening of multiparty democracy. Our sustained and mutually beneficial dialogue at various levels with the Bangladeshi leadership has strengthened our relations with Bangladesh. Our Line of Credit of US$ 1 billion to Bangladesh for its infrastructure development has further energized our bilateral relations. Relations with Sri Lanka during the period were strengthened by the visits of the Sri Lankan President Mahinda Rajapaksa to India, and frequent contacts at senior levels of Government. India continued to assist the Sri Lankan Government in resettlement and rehabilitation of the Internally Displaced Persons (IDPs) in the Northern Province through a number of developmental projects.

India’s relations with Afghanistan have been deepened through regular dialogue at the highest levels, highlighted during President Hamid Karzai’s visit to India in April 2010. The mutually beneficial implementation of our development partnership with that country has provided visible and meaningful substance to our relationship.

India remains committed to discussing all outstanding issues with Pakistan through a bilateral dialogue in an environment free of terrorism and violence. In order for the dialogue to be comprehensive, serious and sustained, Pakistan must fulfill its stated commitment of not allowing territory under its control to be used for fomenting terrorism against India. In pursuance of the mandate given by the Prime Ministers of India and Pakistan, following their meeting in Thimphu in April 2010, the Minister of External Affairs of India and the Minister of Foreign Affairs of Pakistan had met in Islamabad in July 2010 to review the current state of the bilateral relationship and discuss steps to promote trust and confidence between the two countries. The Foreign Secretaries of India and Pakistan met in Thimphu on 6 February, 2011 to carry forward this process. It was agreed to resume dialogue on all issues following the spirit of the Thimphu meeting between the two Prime Ministers.

Apart from maintaining close ties with her neighbours in the South Asia region, India continued to contribute substantially, in an asymmetric and non-reciprocal manner, to transform SAARC into a meaningful and dynamic vehicle of regional co-operation.

The principle of mutual respect and sensitivity to each other’s concerns is stressed in our relations with China. The year 2010 marked the 60th anniversary of the establishment of diplomatic relations between our two countries. President Smt. Pratibha Devisingh Patil’s visit to China in May 2010, and Chinese Premier Wen Jiabao’s visit to India in December 2010, were important landmarks in bilateral relations. India and China demonstrated their cooperation in regional and multilateral fora on global issues, such as climate change and the global financial situation.
Relations between India and the United States of America are founded on shared values, increasingly convergent interests, enormous opportunities for mutually beneficial bilateral cooperation and a shared commitment to work together to address regional and global issues. These were evident during President Barack Obama’s visit to India in November 2010. Both countries have agreed to accelerate the deepening of our ties and to work as equal partners in a strategic relationship that will positively and decisively influence world peace, stability and progress.

India has a very special strategic partnership with Russia which has stood the test of time over the last five decades. The relationship, characterized by both sides as a ‘special and privileged partnership’, received a fillip in 2010 with visits to India by both Prime Minister Vladimir Putin and President Dmitri Medvedev. These visits served to impart a qualitatively new character to our bilateral ties, deepened our cooperation in a vast number of areas vital to our relationship and developed a blueprint for the next decade.

India hosted the visit of Prime Minister David Cameron of the United Kingdom in July 2010. Our strategic partnership with the U.K. was elevated to the level of an enhanced partnership for the future during the visit. President Nicolas Sarkozy of France visited India in December 2010. The substantive dialogue at the leadership level, and our robust cooperation in a number of vital areas have further cemented the strategic partnership that was established with France in 1998.

A strong and prosperous Europe, with which India shares common values of democracy, pluralism and respect for human rights, is essential for stability and balance in the international order. The European Union is a key strategic partner in meeting India’s development needs. Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh visited Belgium in December 2010 for the 11th India-EU Summit. This was the first bilateral Summit after the entry into force of the Lisbon Treaty, and provided an opportunity for identifying areas for further expansion of the relationship.

Relations with the countries in South-East Asia, East Asia and the Pacific constitute an important dimension of India’s "Look East Policy", initiated in 1992 to qualitatively enhance synergies and civilizational linkages with the dynamic East and South East Asian region. Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh visited Japan in October 2010 for the Annual Summit. Japan’s active participation in major infrastructural projects in India, and the conclusion of negotiations on our bilateral Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement were recognized as significant milestones in our relations.

The Indian economy is getting increasingly integrated with those of its East Asian partners. The President of India, Smt. Pratibha Devisingh Patil, paid official visits to Laos and Cambodia in September 2010. Laos and Cambodia have been important partners of India in carrying forward the process of India’s closer integration with ASEAN. Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh visited Vietnam for participating in the eighth India-ASEAN Summit and fifth East Asia Summits in October 2010, and to Malaysia, which is India’s second largest trading partner in ASEAN. In November 2010, Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh participated in the G-20 Summit held in the Republic of Korea. Indonesian President Mr. Susilo Bambang Yodhoyono was the Chief Guest on India’s Republic Day celebration on 26 January, 2011.

Relations with the countries in the Gulf region and West Asia were further strengthened during this period. Prime Minister of India Dr. Manmohan Singh reiterated India’s unwavering support to the Palestinian cause on the occasion of International Day of Solidarity with the Palestinian people, organized by the UN on 29 November, 2010. President of India Smt. Pratibha Devisingh Patil paid the first Presidential visit to Syria, and a State visit to the UAE, in November 2010. The Gulf region continues to be a major trading partner of India. The UAE is a significant trading and energy security partner and is one of the biggest investors in India in terms of FDI.

India’s relations with Central Asia continued to deepen and diversify. President of Turkmenistan Gurbanguly Berdimuhamedov paid a State Visit to India in May 2010; significant decisions were taken during the year to move forward the Turkmenistan-Afghanistan-Pakistan-India gas pipeline project. India’s developmental experience was shared with all the countries of Central Asia through the Indian Technical and Economic Cooperation (ITEC) programme. Counter-terrorism dialogues continued at the expert level to deal with common challenges of terrorism and fundamentalism.

India continued to consolidate its bilateral relations with the African countries. The momentum of relations was maintained through high level visits. Presidents of Seychelles, South Africa, Burundi, Mozambique and Malawi, and Prime Minister of Kenya visited India during the period. Several Lines of Credit and Grants-in-Aid were extended to several countries in Africa, apart from ongoing implementation of the pan-African e-Network project in over 40 African countries.

India’s relations with Latin American and the Caribbean countries have continued with new dynamism during this

India played a prominent role in the UN Climate Change Conference that took place in Cancun, Mexico during November-December 2010. India also closely coordinated its efforts with China, Brazil and South Africa as part of the BASIC Group, in the run-up to the Cancun Conference.

India’s election as a Non-Permanent Member of the UN Security Council for the 2011-2012 term, securing 187 of the 192 votes cast, signaled an important endorsement by the international community of India’s credentials in the global arena. India also continued its efforts to bring about comprehensive reform of the UN system, including expansion of the Security Council in both its permanent and non-permanent categories, in order to increase participation of developing countries, to make the body more broadly representative, efficient and transparent and would enhance its effectiveness and legitimacy.

During the period, India’s multilateral economic engagement further widened and deepened: Vice President of India Shri Mohd. Hamid Ansari led the Indian delegation to the eighth Asia-Europe Meeting (ASEM) and Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh lead the Indian delegation to the BRIC, IBSA, India-ASEAN and East Asia Summits. PM also attended the fourth and fifth G-20 Summits held in Toronto (June) and Seoul (November 2010) respectively. Minister of State for Human Resource and Development Smt. D. Purandeswari led the Indian delegation for the tenth meeting of the Indian Ocean Rim - Association for Regional Cooperation (IOR-ARC) held in Sana’a, Yemen in August 2010 as well as to the ninth Ministerial meeting of Asia Cooperation Dialogue (ACD) held in Tehran in November 2010. India is assuming Chairmanship of the IOR-ARC in 2011.

As in recent years, India’s foreign policy during 2010 has been preoccupied with dealing with the global financial and economic crises and the issue of Climate Change. India has fared better than many other economies in coping with the impact of the financial and economic crisis, and remains one of the fastest growing among the major emerging economies. India’s approach on Climate Change is guided by the imperative to preserve India’s development space and enhancing the country’s energy security.

Pakistan: Prime Minister met Syed Yousuf Raza Gilani, Prime Minister of Pakistan on the margins of the SAARC Summit in Thimphu on 29 April, 2010. Sri Lanka: India and Sri Lanka share close historical and civilisational ties. India emphasized the need for a meaningful devolution package to find a permanent settlement and called for a structured dialogue between the Government of Sri Lanka and the Tamil and other minority parties. India contributed substantially to the resettlement of the IDPs and the reconstruction of Northern and Eastern Sri Lanka. Several developmental projects are underway. India announced an initiative to build 50,000 houses in Northern and Eastern Sri Lanka. India continued its assistance programme to the Indian Origin Tamils in the up-country areas.

Smt. Preneet Kaur, Minister of State for External Affairs, was present at the swearing-in ceremony for the second term of President Rajapaksa on 19 November, 2010 in Colombo.

South East Asia and the Pacific
Countries of South East Asia and the Pacific have in recent years become natural partners of India when we look at possibilities of expanding our economic engagement with the rest of the world. During the year, our relations with the countries of the region were stepped up to strategic levels with some countries and diversified with others in conformity with our "Look East Policy". High level interactions at the level of Heads of Mission, Heads of Government and Foreign Ministers as also bilateral visits contributed to the strengthening and dynamism to our engagements with these countries.

Bilateral trade and investments between India and the countries of the ASEAN have considerably increased, touching US$ 44 billion in 2009-2010 (our exports US$ 18 billion and imports US$ 26 billion) compared to US$ 13.25 billion in 2003-04. Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh has announced a target of bilateral trade of US$ 70 billion by 2012, which can be achieved despite the fragile global economic recovery.

India-ASEAN Trade-in-goods (TiG) agreement, as the first part of FTA, was signed in August 2009 at Bangkok and came into force on 1 January, 2010. It is a land-mark development in greater integration of Indian economy with that of the ASEAN.

In cultural, educational and academic fields our efforts are towards promotion of people-to-people contacts, religious tourism, linkages among institutions of higher learning, and mass media cooperation on issues of common interest, and to take forward the vision of deepening regional integration with countries in this region. Our cooperation in these fields is marked by continuity of our civilizational connection. The passing of the bill for establishment of Nalanda University in August 2010 as an ‘Institution of International Learning and Excellence’ was a major milestone in this field.

In a significant move for enhancing the engagement between our Parliamentary institutions and the ASEAN
Parliaments, we were accorded an "Observer Status" during the recent ASEAN Inter-Parliamentary Assembly in Hanoi.

For the socio-economic development of the countries of the region, India continued to provide assistance to Cambodia, Laos, Vietnam and Philippines in the form of grants, soft loans and credit lines and training courses under the ITEC scheme. As a Dialogue Partner of the Pacific Island Forum (PIF) countries, India has been engaging with Pacific Island countries by providing regional assistance in capacity building and social and economic programmes and sustainable development. In return, India succeeded in eliciting support from majority of the countries of the region on issues of India's interest, such as India's candidature for UN Security Council membership, Commonwealth, Civil Nuclear Cooperation, etc.

The visit of Indonesian President Susilo Bambang Yudhoyono as the Chief Guest on Republic Day, 26 January, 2011 further strengthened the strategic partnership between the two countries.

The visit of External Affairs Minister Shri S. M. Krishna to Australia in January 2011 to attend the seventh round of the framework dialogue with his Australian counterpart Mr. Kevin Rudd reinforced the growing convergence of interests, perspectives and assessments of Australia and India. Our trade with Australia also crossed US$ 22 billion (our exports US$ 2 billion, imports US$ 20 billion).

India's growing profile has attracted countries in South East Asia and Pacific region to foster closer engagement at the regional and multilateral fora such as ASEAN, EAS, BIMSTEC, MGC and ARF.

East Asia
The Year 2010 witnessed a significant expansion in and deepening of economic, political and security links with East Asia. A number of high-level visits and some vital agreements firmed up during the period sustained the momentum. The highlights included conclusion of negotiations on the Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA) during Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh's visit to Japan and commencement of India-Japan negotiations on a civil nuclear cooperation Agreement. The India-Republic of Korea Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA) concluded in 2009 became operational in 2010 with a significant trade expansion impact. India-Mongolia relations continued to exhibit warmth and growth.

Japan: Our relations with Japan are a very important component of India’s 'Look East Policy.' In the year 2010-2011, bilateral relations continued to maintain an upswing, symbolized by a series of high-level visits, new areas of cooperation and new mechanisms of dialogue, deepening economic partnership, smooth implementation of joint flagship projects and continued cooperation in defence and security areas. One of the high points in India's relations with Japan during the year was Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh's visit to Japan from 24-26 October, 2010 for the Annual Summit with Prime Minister of Japan, Naoto Kan. The two PMs signed two documents: a Joint Statement "Vision for India-Japan Strategic and Global Partnership in the Next Decade" and a "Joint Declaration between the Leaders of India and Japan on the Conclusion of the Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement". In addition, a Memorandum on Simplifying Visa Procedures between India and Japan was signed during the visit. Prime Minister had extensive discussions with the Japanese Prime Minister. The India-Japan Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA) was signed in Tokyo on 16 February, 2011.

Republic of Korea (RoK): India-RoK relations have made great strides in recent years and have become multi-dimensional buoyed by significant convergence of interest and mutual goodwill. Bilateral relations entered a vibrant and dynamic phase upon signing of Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA) in August 2009. CEPA which came into effect on 1 January, 2010 has contributed in enhancing trade and investment flows between the two countries.

RoK Minister for Trade Mr. Kim Jong-hoon visited New Delhi for the first meeting of the Joint Committee headed by Trade Ministers in January 2011 to review the status of the implementation of the CEPA. External Affairs Minister Shri S. M. Russia: India’s relations with Russia are enduring and time-tested; they represent an important priority of India’s foreign policy. Recognising the unique strength and maturity of deepening bilateral ties, both sides characterized them during the year as a “special and privileged strategic partnership”. The key pillars of our strategic partnership are close political coordination and deep engagement in the defence, space, science & technology and energy sectors- including both civilian nuclear energy and hydrocarbons. In recent years, we have also made significant progress in trade and investment relations; both countries remain committed to ensuring that the economic relationship evolves as an additional pillar of the strategic partnership.

The intensity of high-level political contacts that we had in 2009 continued throughout 2010. In fact, it was a unique year as we received both Russian Prime Minister Vladimir Putin in March 2010 and President Mr. Dmitry Medvedev in December 2010. These visits provided an opportunity to not only review the progress in the entire gamut of bilateral relations in the first decade of our Strategic Partnership, but also to lay an even more ambitious roadmap for our relations in the next decade.

Central Asia: India shares old historical and strong cultural links with Central Asia, which forms part of our extended neighbourhood. After the dissolution of the USSR, India has steadily developed friendly and cooperative relations with all five Central Asian countries. Three of the five Central Asian countries namely Tajikistan, Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan share borders with Afghanistan and have gained further geo-political significance with the shift of the strategic theatre to the Afghanistan-Pakistan region. The Central Asian Republics, by virtue of their geographical location and the vast natural resources, including energy reserves in the Caspian Basin, form an area of geo-strategic and geo-economic interest to India. As a partner in Central Asia’s progress, India aims to be involved in capacity building and development. India enjoys a reservoir of traditional goodwill in the region and has a steadily growing presence through joint projects in IT and other economic sectors, as also through the continuing love in these countries for Indian films and culture. Apart from high level political dialogues, these areas remained the thrust of our engagement with the region during the year. President of Turkmenistan Gurbanguly Berdimuhamedov paid a State Visit to India in May 2010. We attach a great deal of significance to the maintenance of good relations with these countries and to the enhancement of our economic engagement with them. India maintained regular contacts with these countries through Ministerial and official level visits, providing assistance to them in capacity building and encouraging private sector engagement for boosting trade and investment relations. Armenian Foreign Minister Edward Nalbandian visited India in November 2010.

Ukraine and Belarus: Relations with Ukraine and Belarus continued to intensify. First Deputy Prime Minister of Belarus Vladimir Semashko visited India to participate in the fourth Ministerial Level

Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO): India attaches great importance to the Shanghai Cooperation Organization (SCO), most of the members of which belong to our extended neighborhood. India has been playing a constructive and important role in SCO as an Observer State and has consistently articulated its desire to play an expanded and more meaningful role on the SCO platform. India values the role of the SCO in bringing security, stability and development to our region and stand ready to contribute more to the organization. External Affairs Minister Shri S. M. Krishna’s participation in the Meeting of the Heads of State Council of the SCO and the participation of Minister of Power Shri Sushil Kumar Shinde at the Council of Heads of Governments of Member States Summit in Dushanbe on 25 November, 2010 were a reflection of our desire to contribute meaningfully to the organization.

India-Russia-China (IRC): The India-Russia-China (IRC) Trilateral Foreign Ministers’ Meeting is a unique platform for the Foreign Ministers of three emerging and influential global powers to have a candid exchange of views on key regional and global issues. External Affairs Minister Shri S. M. Krishna visited Wuhan, China from 14-15 November, 2010 for the tenth Meeting of the Foreign Ministers of India, Russia and China. The three Foreign Ministers reviewed trilateral sectoral cooperation in disaster management, agriculture and healthcare and also had a detailed exchange of views on a number of regional and global issues, including UN reforms, global financial architecture, combating international terrorism, cooperation among emerging markets, climate change, security in the Asia Pacific region, SCO, and the situation in Afghanistan, Iran and the Korean Peninsula.

The Gulf, West Asia and North Africa

India maintained its historical and traditionally friendly relations and cooperation with the Gulf region countries. In parallel with increasing imports of oil and gas and growing trade and investment opportunities, active steps were taken in 2010 to strengthen and broaden this relationship. The year witnessed several high level visits bilaterally.

The Gulf region is a major trading partner of India. During 2009-2010 the total two-way trade was around US$ 107 billion making the Gulf region the largest trading partner for India. Gulf countries together provide about 70% of our total crude requirement and play a key role in our energy security. About six million Indians live and work in the Gulf region. They are a vital support to our economy remitting more than US$ 30 billion annually. The State Visit of the President of India to the UAE in November 2010 gave a major impulse to our bilateral relations.

Several high level visits and interactions helped cement the strong relationship that exists between India and countries of the West Asia & North Africa region. The highlight was the visit of the President of India to Syria, held from 26-29 November, 2010. India reiterated its unwavering commitment and support to the Palestinian cause through External Affairs Minister Shri S. M. Krishna’s participation in the Ministerial meetings on Palestine held in New York on the sidelines of 65th UNGA, and made an annual contribution of US$ 1 million to the United Nations Relief Agency for Palestine Refugees in the Near East (UNRWA). The second phase of the Pan-Africa e-Network, was inaugurated by the EAM on 16 August, 2010, by interacting live with Ministers from 12 countries of Africa, including Ministers from Egypt, Libya, Djibouti, and Somalia. India’s relations with 20 countries of East & Southern Africa Region have further strengthened with several high level visits taking place from both the sides and signing of a number of agreements/MoUs. After finalization of India-Africa Framework of Cooperation under the India-Africa Forum Summit (IAFS), 2008 with the visiting AU delegation in March 2010, strenuous efforts were made to flag off the implementation of the commitments made by the Prime Minister Dr. Manmohan Singh at the Summit. Several capacity building courses were finalized with the assistance of the concerned Ministries and Institutions and some of them have been launched; such as 50 Post Graduate and 25 Doctoral Scholarships in Agriculture. In consultations with the African Union Commission, several important commitments like setting up of 19 Capacity Building Institutions have reached implementation stage. Efforts were made to strengthen our bonds with the Regional Economic Communities in Africa. With this objective in mind, a delegation of Regional Economic Communities was in Delhi in November 2010. An initiative was taken to engage all of them together so that the implementation of the India Africa Action Plan for the Framework of Cooperation could be discussed in detail and implementation procedures worked out.

India’s relations with the 25 countries of West Africa continued to grow during 2010, with several important visits and meetings on the sidelines of international multilateral conferences. The Ministry’s flagship project of Pan-African e-Network was implemented in 12 more countries during the year, thus taking total number of African countries coming under the loop to 43. Several Lines of Credit were extended and grant-in-aid given to the West African countries for development of infrastructure and also to help in rehabilitation process following natural disasters. India-West Africa trade during the year 2009-2010 was US$18.04 billion, an increase of 9.7% over the previous year.

Our relationship with countries of the European continent was strengthened by exchange of visits at the Head of State, Head of Government, Ministerial and official levels. Bilateral cooperation in diverse areas which, inter-alia include defence, security, civil nuclear energy, renewable energy, space, trade & investment, science & technology, culture & education grew during the year. Besides high level visits, strong institutional linkages continued to maintain their momentum through regular dialogue.

Prime Minister stopped in Germany for meetings with President Christian Wulff and Chancellor Angela Merkel.

The year 2010 saw many incoming visits as well. The Belgian Crown Prince Philippe visited India from 20-27 March, 2010 leading a 350 plus member economic mission including representatives of 160 Belgian companies spanning various sectors of Belgian economy. The visit was focused at further intensifying bilateral economic and commercial ties between the two countries. U.K. Prime Minister David Cameron visited India from 27-29 July, 2010. During the Nuclear Security Summit in Washington DC in April 2010, Prime Minister had meetings with the French President and German Chancellor Angela Merkel. Parliamentary exchanges and civil society dialogue between India and EU countries remained vibrant throughout the year.

India’s relations have been traditionally friendly and cordial with the countries of Central Europe as well as the Nordic countries. Countries in the region have recognized the opportunities that India’s growing economy and its large market offer and are keen to build on the existing ties and move their bilateral relationship with India to a higher level. The desire to enhance ties with India has been further strengthened by the resilience shown by the Indian economy in maintaining a high rate of economic growth despite the general slowdown in the world economy.

Our approach to these countries has been of broad-based engagement with a focus on reinforcing existing bonds with regular political exchanges, expanding economic ties through exploring synergies and complementarities, strengthening institutional linkages and dialogues and promoting people-to-people contacts. Areas in which productive interaction has taken place include Science & Technology, Renewable energy, Defence and Environment-related technologies. Increase in bilateral trade in goods and services as well as investment flows with these countries is a priority for India.

Agreements have been concluded or are under negotiations in diverse areas including defence, culture, economic, investment, science and technology, education and tourism sectors with many of these countries. Further, in view of the steady flow of Indian professionals to this region, agreements on Social Security and Labour Mobility Partnerships have been concluded or are being pursued with a number of these countries.

India and the European Union (EU) are Strategic Partners whose relationship is founded on shared values and principles of democracy, rule of law, respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms. India and the EU had regular interactions at various levels including at the highest level. The India-EU Joint Action Plan which was adopted in 2005 and reviewed in 2008 covers the entire gamut of relations between India and the EU. The 11th India-EU Summit held in Brussels on 10 December, 2010 was the first Summit after the entry into force of the Lisbon Treaty. It gave a new impetus to the strategic partnership between India & EU.

Today, EU is one of our largest trading partners, and an important source of technology and home to a large and influential Diaspora. While trade and investment still continue to be an important aspect of our bilateral relationship, the relations stand qualitatively transformed as signified by our bilateral efforts to develop common approaches to addressing new and emerging challenges. We have been holding regular discussions on human rights, climate change, energy, consular and visa issues, security and counter terrorism.

The Americas

The United States of America: Building on Prime Minister’s State visit to Washington DC in November 2009, President Obama’s visit to India in November 2010 elevated the India-U.S. Strategic Partnership to a new level. In the elections held in October 2010, India received 187 of 190 valid votes cast, the maximum number among countries elected to the Security Council. India also played an important role in the creation of the UN Entity for Gender Equality and Empowerment of Women (UN Women) in July 2010. Continuing its efforts for reform of the United Nations, India and other G-4 countries led the initiative in the UN General Assembly for text-based negotiations on reform of the UN Security Council as a means of accelerating the reform process. In subsequent text-based negotiations, a majority of UN Member States conveyed preference for expansion in both the permanent and non-permanent categories of membership and improvements in the Council’s working methods.

India also participated actively in discussions on the revitalization of the UN General Assembly and strengthening of the Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC) in the UN’s development-related efforts. India participated in the activities of the UN organizations dealing with Human Rights and Social issues in a constructive manner that reflected India’s commitment to a development-oriented objective, in keeping with its historic legacy of tolerance and respect for human rights and humanitarian values. South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC)

During the Silver Jubilee Year of South Asian Association for Regional Cooperation (SAARC), India has worked with its other fellow members to try and transform SAARC into a dynamic vehicle of regional economic cooperation. During the period, India continued to discharge its responsibilities in SAARC in an asymmetric and non-reciprocal manner. Apart from serving to strengthen regional cooperation, this has also prompted other SAARC members to take initiatives on regional projects. 2010 saw considerable progress in implementation of flagship projects like the South Asian University (SAU) and the SAARC Development Fund (SDF). The commencement of courses at the SAU within the promised time-line of August 2010 and the approval of the remaining modalities of the University is an encouraging sign of the way in which members can work together to achieve the long-term objectives of SAARC. The full operationalization of the SDF in April with its Secretariat in Thimphu together with the appointment of a CEO has helped to give a fillip to the organization through implementation of social projects for the people of South Asia. Efforts to reinvigorate SAARC have proceeded reasonably well although progress in some areas, including intra-regional trade and connectivity, remain well below potential. We will strive to consolidate and nurture the institutions of SAARC which aim to promote the welfare of the people of South Asia and improve their quality of life, in keeping with the prime objective of the SAARC Charter.

Technical & Economic Cooperation and Development Partnership

The Indian Technical and Economic Cooperation (ITEC) Programme, the Special Commonwealth Assistance for Africa Programme (SCAAP), and the Technical Cooperation Scheme (TCS) under the Colombo Plan are important components of India’s development partnership and cooperation with the developing world. Demand-driven and response-oriented, these programmes are a major component and dynamic part of India’s bilateral assistance under the South-South Cooperation framework and aimed at capacity building, skills development, the transfer of technology, and the sharing of experiences. The usefulness and relevance of these cooperative interactions in different countries was reflected in the increasing number of participants in these programmes which have indeed acquired a brand name in the developing world.

India's relations with Japan have undergone a significant transformation in recent years, with the establishment of 'India-Japan Strategic and Global Partnership' and the practice of annual summits during Prime Minister's visit to Japan in December 2006. In the year 2010-2011, bilateral relations continued to maintain an upswing, symbolized by a series of high-level visits, new areas of cooperation and new mechanisms of dialogue, deepening economic partnership, smooth implementation of joint flagship projects and cooperation in Defense and security areas.

One of the high points in India's relations with Japan in 2010-2011 was the Prime Minister's visit to Japan from 24-26 October, 2010 for the Annual Summit with Prime Minister of Japan Naoto Kan. The two PMs signed two documents: a Joint Statement "Vision for India-Japan Strategic and Global Partnership in the Next Decade" and a "Joint Declaration between the Leaders of India and Japan on the Conclusion of the Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement". In addition, an Memorandum on Simplifying Visa Procedures between India and Japan was signed during the visit. Prime Minister had extensive discussions, both in restricted session and delegation-level talks, with the Japanese Prime Minister. The visit helped maintain the upward trend in the India-Japan relationship and summit-level commitment to this increasingly important relationship.

India and Japan enjoy a robust framework for political dialogue. The two Prime Ministers met briefly on the sidelines of the G-20 Summit in Toronto on 27 June, 2010 within a month of Mr. Kan taking over as Japan’s Prime Minister; the two leaders expressed a continuing desire to forge strong relations between the two countries. India and Japan have conducted an Annual Strategic Dialogue between the Foreign Ministers since 2007. Japan's then Foreign Minister Katsuya Okada visited India for the fourth round of this Dialogue on 21 August, 2010. Other dialogue mechanisms at Ministerial level are Japan-India Policy Dialogue at the level of Commerce & Industries Minister and Japanese METI (Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industries) Minister, and High-Level Energy Dialogue between Deputy Chairman of the Planning Commission and METI Minister. The last round of both these dialogues took place in New Delhi on 30 April, 2010 during the visit of the then METI Minister Masayuki Naoshima. The two sides have also begun annual visits by the two Defense Ministers since 2009. In pursuance of this, Japan’s Defense Minister Mr. Toshimi Kitazawa visited India from 30 April-1 May 2010, and held extensive discussion with Defense Minister. During the Annual Summit in October 2010, the two sides agreed in principle to establish a Ministerial Level Economic Dialogue to give strategic and long-term policy orientation to their bilateral economic engagement, taking into account the regional and global context and to coordinate economic issues of cross-cutting nature, including infrastructure development and financing.

There are regular visits of Government Ministers, parliamentarians and senior officials in both directions. Apart from the regular Ministerial dialogue mechanisms referred to above, the following Ministers of the Government of India visited Japan in 2010-2011: Minister of State for Finance (22-25 July, 2010) and Minister of State for Science & Technology (2-7 October, 2010). Minister of State for Rural Development visited Japan from 15-20 January, 2011 while Minister of Parliamentary Affairs and Water Resources led a delegation of Parliamentarians on a goodwill visit to Japan from 27 January-2 February 2011. India and Japan have a comprehensive mechanism of official-level dialogues at all levels and majority of these dialogues were held with regularity in 2010-2011. Besides bilateral issues, these dialogues cover issues of regional and global interest. India and Japan, bilaterally and with other G-4 nations, cooperate for reform of the United Nations Security Council, and the G-4 Foreign Ministers met on the sidelines of the UN General Assembly in New York in September 2010. Among the new dialogues launched in 2010-2011 was a Dialogue on Africa, which had its first meeting in Tokyo from 4-6 October, 2010.

Economic cooperation has a lot of potential in India-Japan relations. In September 2010, the two countries completed negotiations for a Comprehensive Economic Partnership

India and Japan have sound cooperation in the field of energy, where Japan has been assisting India in sectors like coal and new and renewable energy and areas like enhancing energy efficiency through training and model projects. At the conclusion of the forth India-Japan Energy Dialogue in New Delhi on 30 April, 2010, a Joint Statement was issued between the Planning Commission of India and the Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry of Japan, reflecting the range of energy cooperation. The Government of Japan announced on 25 June, 2010 its decision to commence negotiations with India for civil nuclear cooperation. Three rounds of negotiations have been held between the two sides on this issue.

Defense and security cooperation has gradually emerged as a key facet of our Strategic and Global Partnership with Japan and is recognized by both sides as beneficial to peace and prosperity in Asia and the World. Within the framework of the October 2008 India-Japan Joint Declaration on Security Cooperation, which was the first such document signed by India with any other country, a concrete Action Plan was issued in December 2009. Cooperation covers a wide range of issues, ranging from maritime safety and security, fight against piracy and trans-national crimes, safety of transport, protection of marine environment and non-traditional security threats like disaster management through consultation and cooperation in multilateral frameworks in Asia. In 2010-2011, Defense and security cooperation proceeded on the basis of the two agreed documents, as well as Annual Calendar of Defense Exchanges. Among the new dialogues launched in the year was the first-ever Two-plus-Two Dialogue held in New Delhi on 6 July, 2010 between Foreign Secretary and Defense Secretary of India and Deputy Foreign Minister and Administrative Vice Minister of Japan. Krishna, reiterated India’s abiding commitment for achieving universal, non-discriminatory nuclear disarmament within a specified time-frame, a vision that was most eloquently articulated in the General Assembly by Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi, in 1998. He also called for an intensification of discussion and dialogue amongst member states and larger non-governmental communities so as to strengthen the international consensus that can be translated into concrete action on achieving nuclear disarmament. He also referred to the emergence of newer threats, including the threat of terrorists gaining access to weapons of mass destruction.

During the First Committee session of the General Assembly, India reiterated the priority it attaches to global and non-discriminatory nuclear disarmament. India said that there is a need for a step by step process underwritten by a universal commitment and an agreed multilateral framework for achieving global and non-discriminatory nuclear disarmament. India supported the intensification of dialogue to strengthen the international consensus on disarmament and non-proliferation.

India highlighted that its Working Paper, tabled in 2006, contained specific proposals reflecting the spirit and substance of the 1988 Rajiv Gandhi Action Plan. These proposals, which continue to be relevant, included reaffirmation of the unequivocal commitment by all nuclear weapon states to the goal of complete elimination of nuclear weapons, reduction of the salience of nuclear weapons in security doctrines, measures to reduce nuclear danger, including de-alerting of nuclear weapons and negotiation of a global agreement among nuclear weapon States on "no first use" of nuclear weapons, negotiations of a Convention prohibiting the use of nuclear weapons, and negotiation of a Nuclear Weapons Convention for the complete elimination of nuclear weapons within a specified time-frame.

The resolution was first introduced by India in 2002. The resolution called upon UN Member States to support international efforts to prevent terrorists from acquiring weapons of mass destruction and their means of delivery. It urged Member States to strengthen national efforts and encouraged international cooperation in this regard. This year the resolution was co-sponsored by 74 countries.

It also called upon Member States to take necessary measures to prevent the proliferation of nuclear weapons in all its aspects and to promote nuclear disarmament, with the objective of eliminating nuclear weapons.

The Indian Technical and Economic Cooperation (ITEC) Programme, the Special Commonwealth Assistance for Africa Programme (SCAAP), and the Technical Cooperation Scheme (TCS) under the Colombo Plan, have been recognized as important components of India’s development partnership and cooperation with the developing world. These cooperative interactions were aimed at capacity building, skills development, transfer of technology, and sharing of experiences. The usefulness and relevance of these cooperative interactions was reflected in the increasing number of participants in these programmes.

Civilian Training Programme

(A) Indian Technical and Economic Cooperation (ITEC) and Special Commonwealth Assistance for Africa Programme (SCAAP):

Starting on a modest scale in 1964, ITEC has grown over the years and is today a major component and dynamic part of India’s bilateral assistance programme, manifesting itself in diverse areas of cooperation. It is demand-driven and response-oriented. There are 159 ITEC/SCAAP partner countries (list at Appendix-IV). ITEC and SCAAP continue to draw large numbers of participants to the training courses conducted by institutions in India, both Governmental, and in the private sector, under the civilian and Defense training programmes. The ITEC website at itec.mea.gov.in is more user-friendly and specifically targeted to the needs of ITEC/SCAAP participants in terms of making it easier for them to access details relating to empanelled institutions and approved courses as well as to download forms etc. A brochure - an annual compendium of ITEC/SCAAP courses and the training institutions - was brought out in English and five foreign languages, as a reference document for both participating Governments from ITEC/SCAAP partner countries, as well as individual candidates interested in the courses. Alumni networks have been encouraged, including through the annual ‘ITEC Day’ functions, organized at Headquarters, and in Missions abroad. ITEC has acquired a brand name or a popular image in the developing world.

During 2010-2011, around 5,500 civilian training slots under ITEC/SCAAP were allotted to 159 developing countries in the areas of interest and advantage to them. The civilian training programme, fully sponsored by the Government of India, with 46 institutions on the panel, conducted around 232 courses, primarily short-term, for working professionals, on a wide and diverse range of skills and disciplines. The most sought after courses were in the fields of Information Technology and the English language. Training was imparted to Government officials, and others, in areas such as finance & accounts, auditing, banking, education, planning & administration, parliamentary studies, crime records, textiles, rural electrification, tool design, ophthalmologic equipment etc. In addition, general courses pertaining to rural development, SMEs, and entrepreneurship development, also attracted many participants. (A list of institutions offering civilian training courses under ITEC and SCAAP programmes of the Ministry of External Affairs is at Appendix-V).

The ITEC Programme is essentially bilateral. However, in recent years the scope of ITEC activities has increased and it has also been associated with regional and multilateral organisations. These organisations and groupings include the Association of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN), G-15, Bay of Bengal Initiative for Multi-Sectoral Technical and Economic Cooperation (BIMSTEC), Mekong Ganga Cooperation (MGC), African Union (AU), Afro-Asian Rural Development Organization (AARDO), Pan African Parliament, Caribbean Community (CARICOM), the Commonwealth, and the World Trade Organisation (WTO).

The Colombo Plan for cooperative and economic social development in Asia and the Pacific is a regional inter-governmental organization, established in 1951, to enhance economic and social development of the countries of the region. As part of the South-South Technical Cooperation Scheme of the Colombo Plan, the Government of India started the Technical Cooperation Scheme (TCS) with the view to providing technical assistance to 18 countries which are signatories of the Colombo Plan. The TCS of the Colombo Plan was transferred to the Ministry of External Affairs with effect from 1 April, 2010, from the Department of Economic Affairs, Ministry of Finance.

During 2010-2011, the number of training slots was increased to 500 for the scholars of the Colombo Plan member countries. This included 90 slots placed at the disposal of the Colombo Plan Secretariat for allocation to participants from the Colombo Plan countries. The scholars attended training in various areas, in 39 institutes of India, under the TCS of the Colombo Plan. The areas of training covered human resource development, audit and accounts, commerce, Information Technology, computer education, parliamentary matters, rural development, textiles, water resources, medical sciences, engineering, financial management, insurance etc.

Further, technical and financial assistance to the Colombo Plan Staff College (CPSC), Manila, constitutes an important component of the Colombo Plan cooperation. During 2010-2011, CPSC, Manila, commenced the implementation of the two-year technical cooperation programme under a financial grant from the Government of India, entitled the ‘Asia-Pacific Capacity Building Project for Technical Human Resources Development-TVET Skills for Poverty Alleviation’ with activities organized in August, and November 2010. In respect of the engagement with Bhutan, the Government of India has approved the request of the Royal Government of Bhutan for increasing the number of Colombo Plan lecturers upto 30, from the academic year 2010-2011.

Defense Training

Growing interest in defense training was evident with the three wings of the Defense Services, i.e. Army, Navy, and Air Force, accepting over 800 officers/trainees in various defense training institutions. The courses were general and specialized in nature and included security and strategic studies, defense management, electronics, mechanical engineering, marine hydrography, counter insurgency and jungle warfare, as also foundation courses for young officers in the three services. Applications to the premier defense courses at the National Defense College (NDC), New Delhi, and the Defense Services Staff College (DSSC), Wellington, were oversubscribed and saw officers from developed countries also attending on a self-financing basis. The increasing interaction attests to the importance attached to defense training in India, by developing and developed countries.
Deputation of Experts

At the request of Governments and international organizations, 38 experts in the civilian and defense fields were on deputation to advise and provide expertise in areas including Information Technology, auditing, law, diverse agricultural fields, pharmacology, statistics and demography, public administration, and textiles. The services of Defense teams were availed of by Ethiopia, Laos, Lesotho, Mongolia, Seychelles, and Zambia, in training, and advisory capacities.

Economic Diplomacy has progressively acquired an important role in India’s foreign policy. With rapid globalization, protecting and promoting India's economic and commercial interests abroad has become a key priority. The Ministry of External Affairs has been actively engaged in promoting and facilitating trade and foreign investment through its Missions abroad. An Investment & Technology Promotion (ITP) Division has been created in the Ministry for coordinating efforts on the commercial and economic front and liaising with various Government Departments, including the Ministry of Commerce, the Department of Industrial Policy & Promotion, and the Department of Economic Affairs, and also Export Promotion Councils, and Chambers of Commerce.

The Indian Missions are playing an increasingly proactive role in exploiting emerging opportunities and reaching out to foreign investors. They have also been supportive of industry initiatives and are working in partnership with the industrial sector, and chambers of commerce, to promote commercial linkages. Visits of investment delegations are encouraged and the cause of foreign investments is further supported by projecting India as an investment-friendly destination. Inclusion of business delegations in outgoing and incoming VVIP visits is encouraged to promote business-to-business links.

To help our Missions meet the growing demands of Indian industry in an effective manner, funds to the tune of ₹ 8.5 crores were allocated to them in 2010-2011, for undertaking market expansion activities including market surveys, seminars, exhibitions, buyer-seller meets etc. Missions have taken advantage of this facility to carry out market studies for identifying potential areas of cooperation, gathering information on local rules & regulations, organizing sector specific seminars and conferences, printing brochures and publicity material etc.

During 2010-2011, the ITP Division continued to liaise with various Government agencies including the Foreign Investment Promotion Board (FIPB), the Reserve Bank of India, EXIM Bank, the National Manufacturing Competitiveness Council, Invest India etc., providing policy inputs and feedback. It also worked with the Ministry of Civil Aviation on bilateral civil aviation matters, and the Ministry of Commerce on trade-related issues. Trade promotion bodies and industry organizations like FICCI & CII were provided assistance in their external interface, in the form of facilitation, liaison with Missions, publicity etc. Financial assistance was extended to CII for organizing the Commonwealth Business Forum, at New Delhi, from 5-6 October, 2010, during the Commonwealth Games. Representatives from various Commonwealth countries attended the event.

The updated edition of the ITP Division’s annual publication, entitled 'India - Dynamic Business Partner: Investor Friendly Destination,' was circulated to all Indian Missions and Posts abroad for dissemination and distribution to potential foreign investors and businessmen. This publication provides information on India’s economic strengths and current business environment. In addition, a booklet entitled ‘Doing Business in India,’ giving an overview of the investment climate, taxation, forms of business organizations, and business and accounting practices in India, was also sent to all Missions/Posts.

The ITP Division's website, www.indiainbusiness.nic.in where comprehensive information on commercial and investment opportunities in India, is available - was revamped to make it more user-friendly. The website provides a detailed status of the Indian economy, Government policies, and trade & investment opportunities in various sectors, and is aimed at providing a one-stop source of information to foreign investors and businessmen. Weekly and monthly updates on the Indian economy are available on this website.

Lines of Credit

As part of its diplomatic strategy, the Government of India extends concessional Lines of Credit (LoCs) under the Indian Development and Economic Assistance Scheme (IDEAS) to developing countries in Africa, Latin America and Asia. Aimed at promoting bilateral cooperation, these LoCs are a form of soft lending that enables the borrowing countries to undertake infrastructure development and capacity building, as per their development objectives. In the process, the LoCs contribute to the socio-economic development of the recipient countries, earning tremendous goodwill for India. The LoCs also help in showcasing India's strength and expertise in project design and implementation, and in the promotion of exports of Indian goods and services.

The ITP Division is the nodal Division in the Ministry of External Affairs for the implementation of the LoCs. It works closely with the other Territorial Divisions of the Ministry, the Indian Missions, the Department of Economic Affairs, and EXIM Bank, for the effective implementation of the LoCs.

Revised LoC guidelines were issued, in July 2010, in consultation with the DEA and EXIM Bank, with a view to introducing greater efficiency and transparency in the LoC process. These guidelines require project preparation before approval, competitive bidding for the award of contracts, an elaborate monitoring mechanism, and other provisions.

Till date, 136 LoCs, worth US$ 7,642.97 million, have been extended by the Government of India, to 56 developing countries. During 2010-2011, 16 Lines of Credit, amounting to US$ 2,548.33 million have been approved. This includes LoCs of US$ 1 billion to Bangladesh for various infrastructure projects, US$ 382.37 million to Sri Lanka for railway projects, US$ 250 million to Nepal for infrastructure development, US$ 210 million to DR Congo for hydropower projects, US$ 213.31 million to Ethiopia for the development of their sugar industry, US$ 72.55 million to Lao PDR for power generation projects, US$ 61.6 million to Kenya for power transmission lines, and US$ 48.5 million to Mauritius for purchase of an offshore patrol vessel. Other recipients include Malawi, Mozambique and Cambodia.

These LoCs have had a very positive impact on our bilateral cooperation with borrowing countries, by promoting trade and investment. Large scale projects are being implemented in several countries in the areas of power generation and transmission, rural electrification, transportation, railways, agriculture, irrigation, IT etc.

An amount of `5 crores has been earmarked to assist developing countries in carrying out feasibility studies for identifying viable projects to be financed under the LoCs. The funds will enable developing countries that lack technical expertise to identify focussed projects in priority sectors and prepare feasibility reports to establish their technical and financial viability.
An Energy Security Unit was first set up within the ITP Division of the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA), in September 2007. Given the country’s increasing dependence on energy imports and the growing importance of energy security issues in international affairs, it was decided in 2009 to upgrade the Energy Security Unit into a full-fledged Division.

The work profile for the Ministry of External Affairs, in strengthening energy security, includes: making sustained diplomatic interventions on energy issues overseas; assisting the government’s efforts to further diversify the country’s supply base for oil, gas, and coal, as well as other energy resources; interfacing with nodal Energy Ministries; facilitating R&D tie-ups and technology-transfer in areas like renewable energy and energy efficiency; and, tracking of technological innovations and the expansion of the knowledge-base in the field of energy. In addition to energy security, resource and food security has also been brought into the mandate of the Energy Security Division.

Internationally, India supports a collaborative approach to energy issues and in that spirit has joined the International Renewable Energy Agency (IRENA), the International Partnership for Energy Efficiency and Cooperation (IPEEC), the Renewable Energy and Efficiency Partnership (REEEP), the International Energy Forum (IEF), and the Joint Oil Data Initiative (JODI), and enhanced its engagement with the International Energy Agency (IEA). Lead Participation in these platforms is from the nodal Ministries, along with representation from the Energy Security Division. The Division represented the MEA at the IPEEC Policy Committee Meeting (New Delhi, October 2010), IPEEC (Washington D.C., May 2010), IEF (Cancun, March 2010), and IRENA (Abu Dhabi, October 2010).

The Energy Security Division played a major role in the process of India joining the International Renewable Energy Agency (IRENA), which was established on 26 January, 2009. Its headquarters is in Abu Dhabi. The nodal ministry in Government of India is MNRE. India ratified the statute of IRENA, on 4 May, 2010, which later came into effect on 8 June, 2010, after its ratification by 25 countries. The Indian Ambassador in Abu Dhabi is accredited for representation to IRENA.

The Energy Security Division continued to provide inputs to articulate India’s position on energy and food security matters in various multilateral fora like the UNGA, G-20, NAM, BRIC, ASEM, IBSA, East Asian Energy Ministers Meeting, CICA, and the Commonwealth. Inputs were also provided to the respective territorial Divisions and Ministries for the annual bilateral energy dialogues with the USA, Australia, and Germany, amongst other countries.

As the nodal point in the Ministry of External Affairs for all energy security matters, the Energy Security Division maintained close coordination with all the energy line Ministries and supported their international engagement on energy issues. The Ministry of New and Renewable Energy was assisted in organizing the Delhi International Renewable Energy Conference 2010 (DIREC - 2010), in October 2010. The Division continued to coordinate with the oil and infrastructure PSUs through periodic meetings of the Informal Working Group on Energy Security.

The Energy Security Division took part in the Technical Working Group (TWG) and Steering Committee Meetings of the proposed Turkmenistan-Afghanistan-Pakistan-India (TAPI) Gas Pipeline, leading to the eventual signing of the TAPI Intergovernmental Agreement and the Framework Agreement at the TAPI Summit, held on 11 December, 2010, at Ashgabat.
The main activities of the Policy Planning and Research Division include the processing of research projects and studies, relating to foreign policy and global affairs; preparation/updation of database of think tanks, research bodies, universities etc. dealing with subjects related to India’s foreign policy and international affairs; interaction with the University Grants Commission (UGC) and its affiliates and the area study centres of different universities, specializing in research on different regions of the world; and, preparing draft speeches for Minister/Minister of State, & Foreign Secretary, if and when directed. In addition, the Policy Planning and Research Division prepares and dispatches the Monthly Summary of important developments of the month, for the Cabinet and senior officials of the Government of India. The Division also compiles, edits, prints, and distributes, Ministry of External Affairs Annual Report in a time-bound manner. The Report serves as a compendium of India’s relations with the rest of the world and the views of the Government on various issues in the arena of international relations. The Division also collates and compiles materials for the "India & Abroad" chapter of INDIA, published by the Publications Division, Ministry of Information & Broadcasting.

The Policy Planning Division has co-coordinated and monitored the establishment of the Institute of Foreign Policy Studies, which is within the jurisdiction of the University of Calcutta, and which has been established with the financial assistance of the Ministry of External Affairs. Its programmes include the introduction of M.Phil. courses and undertaking research projects concerned with India’s foreign policy with a focus on East Asia and South Asian countries.

With the financial assistance under the Policy Planning and Research Division’s Budget, the Institute of Defense Studies and Analyses (IDSA), New Delhi, is undertaking a research project entitled "India’s Neighbourhood: Challenges in the Next Two Decades".

Joint Secretary (PP&R) led the Indian delegation to Beijing to attend the fourth round of the India-China Foreign Policy Consultations during the month of September 2010.

A list of Seminars, Conferences, Meetings and Studies partly/fully funded by the Policy Planning and Research Division during the period is given at Appendix-VI.

The Policy Planning and Research Division also looks after the work of the ‘Situation Room’ and the ‘Boundary Cell’. All their administrative issues and substantial works are looked after by the Division. The Division is responsible for scrutinizing the depiction of India’s external boundaries in the foreign publications imported into our country, and offers its advice to the Ministries dealing with this matter. It coordinates the supply of map-sheets to various Government and semi-Government offices, and research scholars, for use in their official work with the Survey of India. The Division also deals with the requests from research scholars for access to the old records of the Ministry.

Situation Room

The Situation Room is a multifaceted, multi-facility state of the art complex of the Ministry. Set up in 2007, it has the requisite communication connectivity and display panels which would be required for handling any critical situation. Besides its primary role as a Crisis Management Cell of the Ministry, the complex has been effectively utilized by all Divisions for various purposes such as presentations & conferences including telephone/video conferences.

Role

The role of the Situation Room is as given below:-

(a) To act as a multi-facility complex for holding conferences, presentations, periodic briefings, and video / telephone conferences with Head of Missions, and also for discussions on maps and images as required by the various Divisions of the Ministry.

(b) To act as a Crisis Management Cell (Control Room) in cases of crisis.

Activities during the period of the report

The Situation Room as a Control Room: Leh Flash Floods: A round-the-clock Control Room was established in the Situation Room to facilitate the smoother flow of information to/from Missions of friendly foreign countries whose nationals were affected by the Flash Floods in Leh in August 2010. The Control Room operated in consonance with similar Control Rooms established in Delhi and Srinagar, for smoother operations for seven days (9-15 August, 2010).

Establishment of Video Conferencing Facility in Missions: In consonance with the vision of the Ministry to add a new dimension to communication in the Ministry, video conferencing facility is being established in selected Missions in a phased manner. As a part of Phase I and Phase II of the project, the facility was installed in 13 Missions in 2009. During the period of this report, work on Phase III & Phase IV has progressed. Three more Missions, namely those at Thimphu, Bangkok, and Singapore, have been given the facility in 2010, taking the total number of Missions with video conferencing facility to 16. In addition, as a part of the implementation of Phase IV, technical feasibility studies of six more Missions have been completed and the facility will be installed in these Missions in the near future.

Usage of Video Conferencing Platform by Ministry Officials: The video conferencing facility in the Situation Room was effectively utilized for interactive communication by the senior officials of our Ministry during this period. A total of 18 video conferences were conducted by our officials, during the period of the report, to discuss various important issues with their counterparts in other countries.

45 incoming and 24 outgoing visits, at the levels of Head of State, Vice President, Head of Government, and Foreign Minister, took place during the period April 2010-February 2011. The large number of visits, their wide range in terms of geographical coverage, and the intensity of the interface, was reflective of India’s comprehensive engagement with the world in international affairs. Noteworthy was the fact that Heads of State or Government from all P-5 countries visited India within the short span of six months, between July and December 2010. Five new resident missions were opened in 2010 bringing their total number to 145, in New Delhi. Two Consulates General were opened by Switzerland and New Zealand, in Bengaluru, and Mumbai, respectively. Central Passport Organization
The total strength of the Central Passport Organization, which was created in 1959 as a Subordinate Office of the Ministry, was 2,697, as on 31 December, 2010. The Ministry has taken several steps to improve the service conditions of the CPO personnel by the re-structuring of the cadre, faster promotion, and the introduction of a productivity-linked incentive scheme.

Passport Issuance System
The Ministry has been taking a number of measures to make the passport issuance system simpler and speedier for the comfort and convenience of the public. Some of the important steps are delineated as under:

(a) Decentralization through District Passport Cells and Speed Post Centres
With a view to taking the passport issuance and related services nearer to the doorsteps of the applicants, District Passport Cells (DPCs) have been opened by the State Governments, at the district level, where the office of the District Magistrate/Superintendent of Police receives passport applications and after scrutiny and police verification, forwards them to the concerned Passport Office for the issuance of the passports. The passport applications are also received through the network of 1,096 Speed Post Centers.

(b) Online Applications
Online submission of passport applications has been introduced in all the Passport Offices. The District Passport Cells and Speed Post Centres have also been allowed to file applications online and transfer the data to the Passport Offices, which facilitates quicker turn around in the issuance of the passports.

(c) Tatkaal scheme
During 2010, the passport offices in India issued 6.72 lakh passports under the Tatkaal scheme, which was launched in 2000, to issue passports to citizens in an expedited manner.

(d) Passport Adalats
Passport Offices have been holding Passport Adalats, periodically, to redress the grievances of passport applicants. These Adalats have been very useful in disposing of old cases. As a part of the pendency clearance drive, Special Adalats were organized by Passport Offices, all over India, in January, February, and March 2011.
(e) Performance review meetings/RPOs Conference

A performance review meeting was held by the Ministry with 37 Passport Officers, on 19 November, and 29 November, 2010, in New Delhi. A Passport Officers’ Conference, for the Regional Passport Officers from the Southern region was held on 26 December, 2010, at Kochi. (f) Public Grievance Redressal Mechanism Steps have been taken to strengthen the public grievance redressal mechanism in all the Passport Offices. Facilitation Counters and Help Desks have also been set up to assist applicants and also to attend to grievances/complaints expeditiously. A public grievance redressal mechanism has also been set up, in the CPV Division, under the close supervision of the Joint Secretary (PSP), and the Chief Passport Officer. In addition, all the Passport Offices participate in the public grievances handling mechanism through the CPGram website of the Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances and Pensions.

(g) Right to Information Act (RTI)

A Central Public Information Officer and Assistant Public Information Officers have been appointed, in every Passport Office, to provide information to applicants under the RTI Act. A total of 943 RTI applications and 426 appeals were received and disposed off by the Division.

(h) Website

The website of the CPV Division, http://passport.gov.in, which was established in 1999, is being updated from time to time to make it more user-friendly. It has detailed information on passports, status enquiry, and links to various Passport Offices, and also has downloadable forms.

All diplomatic and official passports are now being issued as e-passports as part of a pilot project. The evaluation of global PQB applications for procurement of ICAO-compliant electronic contactless inlays along with its operating systems for the manufacture of e-passports by the India Security Press, Nashik, is under process. The final decision on the award of the contract would be taken only after the receipt of the technical and security clearance from the concerned agencies.

(c) Outsourcing of Passport/Visa Work

56 Indian Missions/Posts abroad have outsourced passport/visa applications and collection work, up to 31 December, 2010.

(d) Passport Seva Project

On the approval of the Union Cabinet, in September 2007, the Ministry embarked on the prestigious Passport Seva Project. The Project aims at delivering all passport-related services to the citizens in a timely, transparent, more accessible, and reliable manner.

The Project envisages setting up of 77 Passport Seva Kendras (PSKs), across the country, where the non-sovereign functions, involved in the passport issuance process, such as the initial scrutiny of the application forms, acceptance of the fee, scanning of the documents, taking photos etc. will be performed by Tata Consultancy Services Limited, the service provider. The sensitive activities such as granting will be performed by the Government staff. The Project is expected to result in the issue of passports within three days, and where police verification is required, within three days after the completion of the verification process.
After rigorous testing by the third Party Audit Agency (3PAA) and trial runs, all the four PSKs in Karnataka were opened to the public on 21 May, 2010. On 28 May, 2010, External Affairs Minister formally inaugurated the Project (4 PSKs), in Karnataka, in the presence of the Chief Minister of Karnataka. The India-Africa connect website, jointly developed by the XP Division and IANS, is devoted to promoting relations between India and the African countries. The website hosts news, features and essential information on India and Africa with a special emphasis on development cooperation. The website can be accessed at http://www.indiaafricaconnect.in and is being updated on a daily basis.

Logistical Support to Foreign Media Based in India

Over 300 foreign media representatives based in India were provided the necessary facilitation to enable them to function smoothly through the provision of relevant information on various issues of interest, as well as assistance in matters of credential documents, visas, and residence permits. Visa extensions and/or accreditation facilities were provided to these journalists during the year.

Familiarization Visits by Foreign Journalists

Familiarization visits by foreign journalists to India is a key element of the Division’s efforts to expose them to different facets of India. It enables them to acquire a better understanding through a first-hand exposure to India’s politics, foreign policy priorities, economy, culture, and science and technology. XPD organized several such visits to important institutions and centres of excellence in India. Meetings with political leaders including Ministers, senior officials, intellectuals, academicians, business representatives, and the Indian media, were also organized. More than a hundred foreign journalists have been hosted so far with a special focus on India’s neighbours. These included senior journalists and editors from China, Bangladesh, Pakistan, Nepal, Bhutan, Sri Lanka, Central Asian countries, Japan, and Korea, and Anglophone African countries, and women journalists from Nepal, and the SAARC and ASEAN countries. More such visits, including from Eastern European countries, IBSA, and BRIC, are expected during the year.

Training, Workshops, Conferences and Special Events

The External Publicity Division also organizes specialized training programmes and other events for the media from the neighbouring countries. Based on the recommendations of the concerned territorial Divisions, XPD arranged for a tailor-made training course for 30 Afghan journalists (15 print, ten AV, and five Radio), at Jamia Millia Islamia University. Training for 25 journalists from Myanmar was also organized at IIMC (Indian Institute of Mass Communication). Furthermore, visiting journalists met with senior officials, academics, and the Indian media, as well as visiting historical places & centres of excellence. The Division has also been extending assistance to PTI and IANS for the placement of correspondents in select African countries to enhance mutual understanding and bridge the information gap.

Documentaries and Films

A major area of the work of the Division is the processing and issuance of clearances for documentaries by foreign audio-visual agencies. During the period April-November 2010, more than 210 proposals for shooting documentaries in India, from foreign production houses, and international TV channels, on various themes and subjects, including tourism, wildlife, and economic activities, were processed and approved.

Administration/Housekeeping

There has been sustained effort by the Division to improve the general working environment and enhance an aesthetically pleasant appearance of the office space. Display of select historical photographs, along with a liberal splash of green plants, has made the area more presentable and attractive.
The Public Diplomacy (PD) Division of the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) was set up in 2006. The Division’s mandate includes, inter alia, the production of print and audio-visual material that enables our Missions to project the diverse facets of India more effectively. The Division also organizes a wide range of outreach activities that are aimed at creating a greater understanding of India and its foreign policy concerns, both within India and abroad. To achieve these objectives, the Division partners with major domestic and international universities, think tanks and research organizations, chambers of commerce, and even private organizations, to catalyze the holding of seminars, conferences, and special projects, on subjects that are relevant to our concerns. In addition, the Division hosts delegations from various countries and organizations in order to provide them with a broad-based exposure to India. Details of the specific outreach activities are given below:

The Division has also made a conscious effort to shift to the High Definition format and to subtitle or dub the documentaries in multiple languages. As part of the effort to create a wider viewership for these films, the PD Division has entered into a special arrangement with Doordarshan. 90 documentaries produced by the Division are also being screened on DD-India, from October 2010.

To ensure wider availability of our documentaries, we have entered into non-exclusive distribution arrangements with M/s Saregama, and Magic Lantern Foundation, an NGO.

To commemorate the 150th Birth Anniversary of Tagore, the Division is bringing out a customized set of compilations of Tagore's works, in association with M/s Saregama. This set will consist of the critically acclaimed documentary film 'A Story of Gitanjali', produced by the Division in 2008, an audio CD containing songs from the ‘Gitanjali’, as well as a multiple language booklet (Spanish, Portuguese, German, French, and English) containing a write-up, interesting anecdotes, etc. on Tagore.

- A coffee table book by Smt. Radha Raina entitled ‘India & Kazakhstan - Echoes of Distant Past;’ and,

Four new coffee table books on different facets of India have been commissioned and appropriate sets of regional language books in Gujarati, Punjabi, Tamil, and Telugu, are being finalized so that our Missions can use these for our outreach efforts to the Indian diaspora.

An amount of Euros 3,000 was sanctioned for the translation & printing of a book containing a collection of 50 contemporary poems, of 30 poets, writing in 14 different Indian languages, into German.

India Perspectives

A special effort has been made to create a more diverse content and appealing format for the flagship publication of the MEA. The Division took the initiative to bring out a special issue of India Perspectives to coincide with the commemoration of the 150th Anniversary of the Birth of Rabindranath Tagore. To bring out this issue, the Division established a close partnership with the Visva Bharati University. The issue was made available in 17 major languages. With a view to giving a more professional dimension to India Perspectives, a decision has been taken to outsource its publication to a reputed private company, from January 2011.

The Division has commissioned M/s Media TransAsia to update and print 15,000 copies of the coffee table book ‘Timeless Splendour’, first published in 2005-2006 in six languages i.e. English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Russian, and Arabic.

"India Perspectives", the flagship magazine of the Ministry of External Affairs has been made available online. The last issue of the year 2010 was brought out in collaboration with the National Gallery of Modern Art, and is about Modern and Contemporary Art and was distributed at the Indian Art Summit and the Jaipur Literature Festival.

Digital Diplomacy

The PD Division has embarked on an active digital diplomacy approach aimed at harnessing the potential offered by Web 2.0 tools with three clear objectives:

- To connect with the Internet-savvy younger generation.
- To utilise the powerful, low-cost, communication channels offered by Twitter, YouTube, Facebook, Blogspot, and the like.
- To use these channels for receiving feedback and for creating interactive platforms that improves our interface with the citizens.

The PD Division has established a presence on each of these channels and has also started a website (www.Indiandiplomacy.in) which is based on the Web 2.0 platform. The response from the public has been extremely positive and the Twitter account, for instance, already has over 4,000 followers. Short versions of documentaries have been put on YouTube and an interactive space on Facebook has been created to convey and share information about the activities of Missions abroad. These initiatives have recently won recognition through the India e-Governance 2.0 Awards 2010, where the Public Diplomacy Division received the award for the most innovative use of the social media in Government.

"Friends of India Perspectives" and "Friends of ITEC" groups are being created on the Facebook page of the Public Diplomacy Division.

Building Brand India

The PD Division has taken several initiatives to promote the building of Brand India overseas. A few of the major initiatives in this regard include: support to the first Hay Literature Festival, organized in Kerala, from 12-14 November, 2010; support to the India Future of Change campaign, that attempts to create an awareness of India in 18 major university campuses around the world, through a series of design, business plan, photography, essay writing, and other competitions, and; partnership with the CII to mount a major branding campaign, themed ‘India.Inclusive@Davos,’ during the World Economic Forum’s Summit in Davos in January 2011.

The PD website makes a conscious effort to create and amplify examples of India’s Development Partnerships around the globe under the ITEC and other aid programmes. A similar effort is also being made to project and highlight the global reach and impact of India’s soft power. Active discussions are underway with Doordarshan to expand its global footprint and make it an effective vehicle for our public diplomacy efforts.

Creating an International Relations Community

The Division has created a nationwide database of all international relations scholars and experts. This has been done in partnership with the School of International Studies, Jawaharlal Nehru University (J.N.U.), and the JAIR. A closed Google mail group has been created where these scholars have interacted with each other and have established relationships with the PD Division. A proposal for the 1st ever International Conference on International Relations Scholars is in the pipeline.

Imparting Momentum to Public Diplomacy

The Division has embarked on a range of activities to create greater awareness about the field of Public Diplomacy and its increasingly important role in foreign policy. A major international conference themed ‘Public Diplomacy in the Information Age’ - the first of its kind to be held in India - was organised in New Delhi, from 10-11 December, 2010. The keynote address was delivered by the Foreign Secretary who also hosted a dinner for the visiting delegation. Joint Secretary (PD) has also delivered lectures on the subject at various university campuses and at think tanks like the IDSA and ORF. In view of the Division’s ambitious plans for Public Diplomacy, it has also created a separate logo that can be used on all its products and at events supported by the Division. This is a key milestone in the ongoing efforts to create a distinct identity for the Division.

ICWA Library

The ICWA Library has made a giant leap forward into the future by automating the entire collection of books, journals, and UN, & EU documents. The use of cutting edge technology of RFID takes the age-old Sapru House library onto the next level, more in tune with today. RFID gates at the entry and exit point help in securing the resources of the library and the inventory manager helps in the inventory management of the library. This will immensely help in carrying out the stock verification of the library regularly. The collection is now searchable through OPAC (an online public access catalogue) thus paving the way for a complete electronic dissemination of information. The energies of the management, and the library team, are now focused on creating the digital content out of the valuable collection of rare books, bound volumes of newspapers, and press clippings. This process will greatly help in systematizing and preserving the rich and unique resource this library possesses in the field of international affairs which will be very useful for researchers and experts in the field of world affairs, across the country and abroad. The entire collection of India Quarterly (1945-2008) has been digitized and can be browsed on the website. The documents of the first Asian Relations Conference are available, digitally preserving them for the future. The Library’s membership is growing by leaps and bounds and so is its generation of revenue. From a mere earning of ` 0.59 lakhs, revenue has touched ` 8.90 lakhs, at the end of the financial year 2009-2010. Membership, in December 2010, touched 713, and is still growing, and revenue has touched ` 8,61,500. The library ambience looks inviting, and attractive, and the look and feel has been greatly enhanced. The seating has increased to 250, and is still growing. The décor has now attractive Roman blinds, and new comfortable chairs, and tables. The atmosphere is comfortable and conducive to learning. The library is now attracting everyone alike. The increase in the number of researchers now using the library is a testimony of the growing popularity of the place. The Sapru House library is now a member of several esteemed institutions and reputed national and international professional bodies viz. IFLA, DELNET and IASLIC. These memberships are optimally used to seek information or borrow material for our Research faculty and research students. Another feather in our cap is the visibility of our library collection on the DELNET’s union catalogue. Our presence is felt these days by some reputed organizations as we receive queries from the American Center, the British Council, the India International Centre, the NMML (Teen Murti), the Central Secretariat, DELNET, and various other renowned libraries. Media personnel of prestigious newspapers have been visiting the library for information. A good number of books are being added to the collection such as those on key issues in international affairs and foreign policies, pertaining to Africa, South Asia, and Central, East, and West Asia, Energy Security, the environment, and Global Warming. The book and journal collection is being augmented with the addition of new books and subscriptions to new electronic journals. The subscription of JSTOR (an online database of journals with archival content) and other print and online journals of repute from SAGE, Taylor and Francis, and others like the same, will help the researcher a great deal. A collection of books written by our diplomats is being created in the Library entitled ‘Heritage of Diplomacy’. This collection is also highlighted on our website. The additions to the list of the names of new books is a regular feature on our website, which gives information about books which have been added recently in the library’s collection. We will be circulating the information about the modernization of our library to Indian and foreign universities and institutions. Professors and research scholars, alike, from reputed Indian institutions and Universities have referred to the books, periodicals, and press clippings, available in the library. Key Government officials have been utilizing and applauding the library services which indicates that the popularity of our library is growing. We are also upgrading the skills of our library personnel. They are sent regularly for intensive training and conferences to keep them abreast with the latest trends and technology. An intensive and extensive training programme was organized recently in the ICWA library exposing the entire team of the library to the library software to carry out the routine library jobs using computers. Library WEB-OPAC will be a new beginning in the ICWA library in disseminating information about the heritage of Sapru House all across the globe. All the details have been finalized and shortly the WEB-OPAC will be operational on the ICWA website giving ease to the researchers and practitioners of foreign policy in finding out resources relating to their respective area of studies. The WEB-OPAC will give a peep into our collection and greater visibility to our rich heritage. The signage in the stack hall and in the library eases the reader’s journey in the library as the subject; its location is mentioned on the bay guide to help the reader reach the respective destination of the subject.
