Indian Ambassador's XI team wins 4-nation Cricket Tournament

The 2nd Indian Ambassador's Cup cricket tournament was held at the Lima Cricket & Football Club on Sunday 15 December 2014. Four teams – Australia, India, South Africa and United Kingdom – participated.

The final was played between India and the UK, and the Indian team was crowned champions, beating the UK by six wickets in a keenly contested game.

Australia was placed 3rd in the Tournament, beating South Africa.

The Indian Ambassador's Cup was initiated by Ambassador Manpreet Vohra last year. This is a 4-nation T-10 cricket tournament, comprising teams from all the four cricket-playing countries that have embassies in Lima. The tournament is supported by Cricket Peru, an Affiliate Member of the International Cricket Council, and the Lima Cricket & Football Club which was established in 1859 and is the home of cricket in Peru.

The inaugural Cup played on 9 December 2012 was won by Australia and India was the runner-up team. The UK and South Africa had taken the 3rd and 4th places.

The Indian Ambassador's Cup now stands firmly established on the cricket calendar of Peru and has become a much-awaited annual event drawing unprecedented crowds and media coverage.
