The Federated States of Micronesia is an independent sovereign island nation consisting of 4 States, the eastern 4 islands of the Caroline Island group: Yap; Chuuk; Pompehi; and Kosrae, with a population of around 110,000. Spanish explorers reached the Carolines in the 16th Century and it was later incorporated in the Spanish East Indies and later-on passed on to Germany in 1899 under the German-Spanish Treaty. After World War I, the island was administered by Japan as a League of Nations Mandate.
